bsi.
RoHS Trusted
KITEMARK™

KM 634267

We work tirelessly to ensure our products, services and practices remain compliant with UK and European Union laws and legislative directives.

Construction Products Regulation (CPR) identifying cables to harmonised fire classifications

CE marking laws denoting proven European health, safety and environmental compliance

REACH directive regulating the volume of chemical substances imported into the EU

RoHS directive excluding hazardous chemicals from our supply chain

WEEE directive for end-of-product-lifecycle materials handling

BSI Cable Batch Verification Kitemark™

"As the first company to achieve the BSI Cable Batch Verification Kitemark, Eland Cables sets a new benchmark in cable compliance. The rigorous and extensive testing programme they undertake tests the cables to British and international standards for key safety criteria. By certifying their cables against the scheme, Eland Cables can demonstrate that its cables meet the highest standards."

bsi.

Described as "a new benchmark in cable compliance" by The British Standard Institute, our Kitemark testing goes further than anyone else to ensure compliance.

First company to achieve the BSI Cable Batch Verification Kitemark™

Rigorous testing programme in UKAS-accredited laboratory under intensive BSI surveillance

Testing to British and European standards for key performance safety criteria

Independent third-party verification of quality and compliance

Veriflex®

"The Cable Batch Verification Kitemark is applied to products, including the Veriflex SY, CY and YY range of PVC and LSZH control cables. The range of tests provide third-party assurance that cables meet relevant British and international standards for key safety criteria, making them fit for use in appropriate applications."
